SHIPS ON THE SHORE.

Associated Press, Morning Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 8.—Terrible gales have been working havoc with shipping along the coast. The steamer Charles Nelson was wrecked off Astoria. She became waterlogged and crew and passengers were compelled to take to the small boats. They reached land only after the most thrilling experience. No lives are reported lost.

The Dunslaw also suffered severely in the storm. She was towed into Astoria dismantled.

The Cathayer was driven ashore at Hoquiam, Washington, by the gale. She is also much damaged.

The steamer Charles Nelson was owned by the Charles Nelson Company of San Francisco and has been engaged in the freight and passenger service between San Francisco and points northward along the coast to Puget Sound. The vessel was built at Alameda five years ago. Her gross tonnage was 1,057. She is 190 feet long, has a thirtyseven and one-half feet beam, and a depth of twelve feet and eight inches. The vessel was commanded by Captain Gunderson.

The Duns Law was a German bark of 1531 tons commanded by Captain Nichols and was under charter to take grain from Portland to Algoa Bay, South Africa.

Astoria, Ore., is situated just inside of the mouth of the Columbia river, the entrance to which has proven a great graveyard for vessels caught there during heavy storms.

BRAVE SHOWING AT THE POLO GAME

S. M. DAMON HAS PROVIDED THE MOST PICTURESQUELY LOCATED POLO GROUNDS IN THE WORLD.

The opening game of the polo tournament between Kaula and Oahu, Saturday afternoon, gave occasion to the bravest cavalcade, through the most beautiful scenery to the finest polo grounds, that has probably ever been seen anywhere.

The polo field is the center of a natural amphitheatre. From any point the view is a most beautiful one. Nature seems almost to have built the surrounding hills for the express purpose to which S. M. Damon at the expenditure of a great deal of care and much money, and the display of exquisite taste and public spirit, has devoted it.

The grounds are situated a half a mile or so from the finely macadamized road which runs through Moanalua, up one of the pretty little valleys that pierce the mountains. The road up the valley has been well built, and winds up the course of the valley, which is nowhere wide, but abounding in lawn like glades and sheltered nooks, the walls of the valley on both sides being well grown with grass and almost entirely free from lava and other undergrowth. At last it leads through a scale and level ridge, when the polo grounds and its surrounding amphitheatre breaks on the view.

Within the amphitheatre the view both up and down the valley is cut off except as to the highest eminences, giving a wonderful effect of seclusion, and protection from heavy winds.

The center of this natural amphitheatre is the polo grounds, leveled off perfectly and turfed until it presents the ideal ground. The natural contour of the spot is oval. From all sides but one the grass covered hills rise from the edge of the level polo grounds, so that the carriage drive surrounding the grounds gives at every point good vantage view of the whole field. On one side for most of the way, the carriage road is lower than the polo field, and on this side are the stables and exercise grounds. The polo field itself is bounded and limited on both the long sides by a low board coping giving carriage space on each side of the field itself in addition to the abundant room for carriages on the carriage road, and even on the sides of the hills.

For the hour before 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the road leading out through Moanalua was alive with equipages and horsemen and horsemen, in festive spirit, bound for the polo grounds. During the game it was a very brave sight to see the scores of carriages and other scores of saddle horses surrounding the polo field on which the men in red and blue comprising the contending polo teams, rode hither and back in animated and furious yet keenly considered manoeuvres driving the ball or essaying to wrest it from the other side.

After the game the procession back through Moanalua to the city was the gayest of routs. There was scarcely any dust so that there was not the usual objection to riding in such a procession, and a successful opening game of a splendid report had been witnessed.

The Oahu team won by the score of 10 to 9. During the first part of the game the Kaula players, partly through unfamiliarity with the grounds and partly it is probable, through nervousness, did not make the showing that they did later. The Oahuans never let up in their game, and the later score made by their opponents was due to improved individual and team work. The second game of the tournament will be played Wednesday and the third one on Saturday of this week.

SPORTS.

The Honolulu Iron Works employees defeated the Cotton & Sells on Saturday by the score of 14 to 10.

The third football game of the junior league for the season was played Saturday afternoon at Punahou between the High Schools and the Kamehamehas. Neither side scored. The game was a fast one. The High School boys had rather the best of the game.

A team consisting of A. G. M. Robertson, E. H. Leonard, Thomas P. Cummings, Gus Rose and Daniel Logan has been organized to accept the challenge of the "Invincibles for French Fives," at the Alakea street bowling alley.

REYES PEACE COMMISSIONER.

Associated Press, Morning Service.

PANAMA, November 8.—It is reported that General Raphael Reyes has been appointed Colombian peace commissioner. This is believed to be an assurance that Colombia is willing to grant independence to Panama. There is great enthusiasm at the prospect of early peace.

General Raphael Reyes, the Colombian peace commissioner, has been mentioned for some time as the probable successor of President Marroquin and in later dispatches he has also been spoken of as "an able leader who is preparing to head a revolution against the Marroquin government." General Reyes has generally been considered as strongly in favor of the Hay-Herran Canal treaty which the Colombian Congress recently refused to ratify.

ADMIRAL WALKER TO PANAMA.

Associated Press, Morning Service.

WASHINGTON, November 8.—The Mayflower has sailed for Panama with Admiral Coghlan and Admiral Walker aboard. Admiral Walker is to visit the isthmus as commissioner for President Roosevelt and will report to the President on the situation there.

Rear-Admiral James G. Walker, who is on his way to Panama on the naval yacht Mayflower to investigate the condition of affairs there for the President, has probably given more study to the isthmian canal question and the condition of the Panama district of Colombia than any other American. As president of three canal commissions he has made an extensive investigation of the conditions obtaining at Panama. On March 15th of this year President Roosevelt appointed Admiral Walker chairman of the commission which was to have had charge of the building of the Panama canal in case the treaty had been ratified by Colombia. He has been retired from the navy in which he had a long and brilliant career.

BIG STEAMER MANCHURIA.

Associated Press, Morning Service.

PHILADELPHIA, October 31.—The steamer Manchuria, built for the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, stuck on the ways as she was being launched today at the New York Shipbuilding Company's yard in Camden, N. J. Every effort was made to launch the vessel, but without success. At noon the tide had receded and it was found necessary to postpone the launching. Miss Laura Wick was the vessel's sponsor and the christening party included the principal officers of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. The vessel was launched late this evening. The Manchuria is a sister ship to the Mongolia, which was launched on July 25, and which is now nearly ready for her trial trip. The Manchuria with the Atlantic Transport Company. During the construction, however, they were sold to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, and are intended to run between San Francisco, Hawaii, China and Japan.

WILL GRANT EVERYTHING.

Associated Press, Morning Service.

PANAMA, November 9.—Senator Varilla has opened negotiations on behalf of the Republic of Panama for a new canal agreement. He assures Secretary Hay that the isthmian government is anxious for a speedy canal treaty, simpler in text than the Colombian treaty and more positive as to the extent of American control.
